Honorable
John Kerry
Secretary of State
United States of America

Mr. Secretary of State,

The Inter American Press Association, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to watching over freedom of expression and of the press, expresses its concern at the situation that is being faced by the newspapers El Siglo and La Estrella de Panamá, important news media and active members of our organization immersed in a situation of uncertainty that could lead to their shutdown.

Mr. Secretary, our organization request you the immediate withdrawal of the two newspapers from the "Clinton List," considering that there is no evidence that they are involved in money laundering activities, as the current U. S. ambassador in Panama John Feeley, told Telemetro on June 3, 2016. This situation of uncertainty is aggravated by the lack of information on the case, as explained by the president of that editorial group, Eduardo Quirós, in a letter sent to you on December 13.

Under this premise our request is based on the fact that the closing down of these news media represents a violation of the principles of freedom to do business, as well as seriously affecting freedom of expression and of the press, and the Panamanians' right to access to information.

Since May this year El Siglo and La Estrella de Panamá have been granted by the United States Treasury Department a license of temporary exception after the commercial group to which the publications belong was included in the "Clinton List." The expiration of the license, scheduled for January 6, would leave the newspapers financially adrift, making impossible their ability to operate and if would affect even more their relations with suppliers, advertisers and ad agencies, having furthermore as an outcome the cessation of work of the hundreds of the companies' employees.

On the understanding that without freedom of expression and of the press there are no free people or societies and that the exercise of these freedoms is not a concession of the authorities but an inalienable right of the people, we ask the Department of State that you head to be good enough to take the necessary actions to come up with a definitive solution to this situation which affects two news media with a long history and whose possible disappearance would create a serious informative rupture.

We reiterate – as we expressed in our recent resolution adopted in Mexico in October by the General Assembly in representation of more than 1,300 publications in the Americas – that “while the Inter American Press Association is respectful of the legal investigations conducted with full clarity and transparency what concerns it is the possibility of restricting the newspapers' ability to publish.”
